Sorenson's Role in JESD Is Questioned

What role did Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson play in the firing of the top two administrators of the Jefferson Elementary School District?

Two weeks ago, Trustee James W. Cranna testified in the trial of fired Associate Supt. Roger Barthuli that Sorenson told the trustees in private that there was insufficient grounds to fire Barthuli and Supt. Frank L. Greenwood.

But Oct. 24, near the trial's close, Trustee David M. Parker testified that Sorenson merely was on hand to comment on the school district's intention to hire an independent attorney and an unnamed administrative aide.

Sorenson repeatedly has declined comment and was reported out-of-state until later this week or next Superior Court Judge Robert E. Carey will weigh the apparently conflicting testimony.

The district contends Barthuli was fired for incompetence in business matters. Barthuli contends he was fired because he supported Greenwood. Barthuli, who was granted a new four-year contract July 1, 1972, is seeking to regain his job or a court decision ordering the district to monetarily honor his contract.

Barthuli's personal secretary, Lorraine Salvo, testified Oct. 24 that Barthuli on occasions instructed her not to use consecutively numbered purchase orders so it wouldn't be obvious.

Mrs. Salvo said that she construed Barthuli's alleged comment to mean that if large amounts of money were involved in consecutively numbered purchase orders, then it "would be obvious to be the board."

She implied that the alleged Barthuli orders were to avoid concerns about purchasing large amounts of supplies from various contractors without going to public bid.

The question of whether Barthuli obeyed the state Education Code on bidding procedures has been the subject of several witnesses in the two-week-old trial.

I didn't say it was an illegal act," Mrs. Salvo testified under cross-examination. I took no position on the matter. My opinions did not matter. I was following directions.

Through his questioning, Barthuli's attorney William Brown implied that the orders may have been out of sequence in numbering to allow for payment at delivery vs. payment at other times but Mrs. Salvo testified that she didn't remember any purchase orders for delivery only.

Attorney William Johnston of the district could not be reached for comment.

Parker and Trustees Dorothy Adams and Beverly Forrester testified Oct. 24 that the two administrators were dismissed for professional rather than personal reasons.

Former Trustee William Schumacher, an attorney, testified that the board had concerns on business procedures in the early 1970s as well.

The attorneys agreed to present their closing arguments in writing to Judge Carey Nov. 16 and the judge will render a decision after that.

City, Citizen Pact Signed

Water Merger Urged

A special meeting of the Daly City City Council was held Friday to sign an agreement with the Citizens Committee for Water Consolidation in the Bayshore district.

City Manager David Rowe said the meeting between representatives of the Citizens Committee, formed to encourage the merger of the Dimond Public Utility District with the Water Department of the City of Daly City, spelled out what the city intends to do if Proposition 3 on the Nov. 6 ballot is approved.

The district has about 750 residents of the Southern Hills area which is inside the Dimond District but actually receives water services from San Francisco and Daly City.

The agreement explains that the Citizens Committee is an unincorporated organization of residents of Daly City living within the area generally known as Bayshore Area. Representatives of the committee in their agreement explained they were interested in having the merger passed for "safety, health and welfare" reasons within the district.

The committee vowed to push for improvements in the district's water distribution system, while the city agreed to appropriate not less than $80,000 in capital improvements in the area within 18 months — starting in Jan. 1974 — if the consolidation already approved by the Local Agency Formation Board of Supervisors is voted in.

Rowe said the city is also prepared to employ those already employed by the district as the order of consolidation with retirement rights and fringe benefits equal to or better than their present benefits.

Under the agreement, the city will also make connections between its reservoir number 2B and Dimond's water mains. The district does not now have its own water reservoir, according to Rowe.

Observe Library Techniques Chinese Tour District

Chinese Tour District

A 10-member delegation headed by the director and deputy director of the National Library of Peking visited the Jefferson Elementary School District last week to get a first-hand look at American teaching methods.

The visit to the JESD was hosted by a combined group of district trustees, staff and the P.T.A. District Council.

It is one of four delegations scheduled to visit the United States from the Peoples Republic of China this fall according to an announcement made by the Committee on Scholarly Communication with the Peoples Republic of China.

Other fields to be represented are computer science, teaching English as a foreign language, and research on the physiology of pain and on homedical engineering.

The Chinese librarians arrived in the United States on Sept. 26, headed by Liu Chi-ping, director of the National Library of Peking and Pao Cheng-ku, deputy director.

Observers said the delegation, which toured several schools in the district following a luncheon at the administration office, talked with children and appeared "vitaly interested" in the local education process.

This visit, however, is primarily aimed at giving the group an opportunity to observe library administration and services, application of modern U.S. techniques in libraries and research, and education in librarianship here.

They will spend five weeks in the country, visiting various public and campus libraries.

PREPARING PICKETS — A workshop for picket signs was conducted by members of the Original Daly City Protective Association last week in preparation for picketing opening of Bay Area Rapid Transit station on Knowles Avenue Saturday. Cards protest redevelopment in city, declaring such redevelopment will be responsible for wiping out homes around BART station.

DC Realtor Injured in Auto Wreck

A prominent Daly City realtor was among five persons, including three small children, injured in a head-on crash on Guadalupe Canyon Parkway in Brisbane Sunday night.

George Lagonarino, 48, of 6700 Mission St., suffered extensive internal injuries and lacerations when his car collided with another vehicle driven by John Bonfiglio, 44, of 273 Templeton St., Daly City, shortly after 7 p.m.

Bonfiglio's three small children were thrown clear of the wreckage on impact, according to Brisbane police and fire department sources.

One child, six-year-old Charles Bonfiglio, was found lying on the side of the road, was some 75 yards from the crash scene. Another boy, John, 9, was wandering aimlessly near the twisted wreckage, police said.

A third child, Antoinette, 13, was also out of the car when rescuers arrived.

For almost an hour, Brisbane firemen, using special rescue equipment, labored to release Bonfiglio from the car. He was rushed to Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame, along with his three children.

Lagonarino, nephew of the late Rocco Lagonarino, one of the founders of the First National Bank of Daly City and well known in Bay Area real estate circles, was reported in a serious condition at Peninsula Hospital.

No Vehicles Are Allowed on Beach

The Pacific City Council Monday adopted an ordinance banning vehicular traffic on the coastline community's beaches.

Mayor Aubrey Lumley said, "If you've ever been down there when the beaches are filled with people and the dune buggies driving among them, you would see that somebody's going to be killed."

Councilwoman Grace McCarthy added that the dunes are destroyed by the buggies, which cause erosion.

"Can't you tag those vehicles for driving in an unsafe manner?" asked a man in the audience.

We want them off the beaches," Lumley insisted.

Police Capt. Tony Guardino reported that the department received "lots of complaints." He added, however, that the police would need new equipment for proper enforcement.

Councilman Stan Farber wondered then how the ban could be enforced.

The new ordinance included: automobiles, trucks, tractors, motorcycles, dune buggies and all-terrain vehicles in its ban.

A letter from Alice Fix of Pacifica complained that on a recent hot day, "There were many, many people, kids down on the beach and there were the motorcycles weaving in and out amidst the crowd."

When the woman complained to the police, she was told that there was nothing the police could do since there were no laws banning vehicles on the beach, according to the letter.

The council also adopted an ordinance listing "Don'ts" for the new bathing (Cont. on Page 17)

Poll: Merchants for DC Redevelopment

A poll of members of the Mission Street Merchants Association in Daly City recently revealed 76% of those answering the survey favor redevelopment in the Mission Street-Junipero Serra Boulevard area.

A total of 133 questionnaires were sent out to members, 92 responded to the poll.

Some members felt that 47% response to the poll was "better than average" and the results would provide a basis for future thinking concerning redevelopment along the shopping streets.

Those answering favorably pointed out they preferred upgrading of the existing areas — trees, flowers and wider sidewalks.

Others indicated the entire area around the new Bay Area Rapid Transit Station on Knowles Avenue should be rezoned to "high rise from Mission Street or near at all Parkview to County Line, Mission Street to Junipero Serra Boulevard."

Stiff opposition to such a proposal has already been registered before the Daly City Council by opponents of redevelopment, namely the Original Daly City Protective Association.

Some responded to the survey by pointing out that while they were opposed to a limited redevelopment of the Mission Street-Junipero Serra Boulevard area, they would favor a plan to develop all of the so-called "Old Daly City area."

This area comprises an estimated 9,000 homes east of the Junipero Serra Freeway, according to a Daly City Council spokesman.

Pacifica Public Works Chief Tackles Engineering Problems

A top Pacifica city official has completed his first week on the job finding out how many problems face the city and how little money there is to fix them.

To these problems, new Public Works Director Norman C. Rubel confides, can be added his own personal problem: How do you find a place to live if you have 12 children?

His children range from 6 to 21 years of age, with only the eldest, his married son in the army.

Meanwhile, he is commuting on weekends to visit his family, still living in Anaheim. During the week, he commutes from his sister's home in Millbrae.

According to City Manager Dave Thompson, Rubel was hired "just in time" as the fall rains seem imminent.

THE UNIQUE PROBLEM: Pacifica's flooding is now under study by Rubel, who is particularly busy trying to determine the city's actual responsibilities.

Some of the streams that cause flooding are not owned by the city, he explained.

Does the city have the authority to go in and clean them out, at public expense or to keep residents from throwing old water heaters, tires and other refuse into the streams which are on their property?

Among projects Rubel has begun are:

- Setting up specifications for a new bus system, for which Pacifica has already received a $217,000 grant.
- The system would enable Pacificans to reach the BART station in Daly City.
- Marj's Help Hospital and Skyline College. He is also planning to apply for more funds for the bus system in view of the great distances to be covered in Pacifica. He will also examine alternate methods of operating the line such as whether to hire a firm to run the system or have the city run it itself.
- Reading an engineering report to be used in obtaining a multi-million dollar grant.

to finance secondary sewage treatment in the city's new sewer plant. By 1977, the U.S. Government is expected to require secondary treatment for all sewage plants.

—Compiling a series of assessment districts to improve a number of local streets. Bids for the street work were received during the summer because they were too high. Rubel is planning to enlarge these districts in hopes that a larger project would bring down the cost per unit.

—Preparing a report on underground power lines. Every year, PG&E appropriates funds for this purpose, and it is up to the city to decide where the money can best be spent.

County Planners Ask

Colma Creek Answers

The San Mateo County Planning Commission has some questions answered before it approves an environmental impact report (EIR) on the proposed $11.7 million Colma Creek flood control project.

The commission continued action on the matter Wednesday until its Nov. 28 meeting.

In its report to the commission on a preliminary EIR report, planning department officials noted that the EIR omitted:

—A quantified geographical description of the actual construction area.

—Consideration of Tsunami (tidal water) hazards from the bay.

—Probable alternative major truck routes for truck hauling associated with the project.

Necessary relocation of people from two mobile home parks necessitated by the project.

Disruption of parking areas located near the site and loss of income it will experience.

An estimate of maintenance costs for the project.

Displacement of persons in mobile home sites which will be taken by the project.

Environmental impact from an alternative diversion route necessitated by the project.

It was recommended by the staff and accepted by the commission that answers to the questions be forwarded to the Flood Control District and be covered in the final EIR report.

Removal of the London Ave. bridge over Colma Creek almost six weeks ago helped insure the smooth flow of water through an area which overflowed at least twice during the previous rain season. In addition, a large quantity of debris had been removed from the creek in the past few months.

Officials of the five cities of the Colma Creek basin are meanwhile studying the preliminary report for the project, submitted two weeks ago by the WILSEY and Ham engineering firm. South San Francisco councilmen held a special study session at 3 p.m. Friday. At that time, city staff members presented their recommendations on the proposed plan.

Chief among issues studied were a recommendation of the acting city manager, Ed Laine, that the flood control district pay interest on funds advanced to the Project by the various cities.

Property-owners in the district, including those in northern San Bruno, Colma and part of Daly City and Pacifica, have already received tax bills containing tax increases of 15 cents per $100 valuation. Those owning property closer to the creek have received tax increases of 27 cents, thus subject to frequent flooding have increases of 39 cents, which they must pay annually until the financing of the district is completed.

South San Francisco is currently paying $18,000 for the most critical part of the flood control project, including replacement of the Linden Ave. bridge, and widening and deepening of the canal from Spurre to San Mateo avenues. Officials hope the city will be reimbursed by the flood control district.

Wilsey and Ham's version of the flood control project is estimated to cost $7.5 million, although some estimates for the work needed have gone as high as $13.4 million. To get started, three of the cities will advance the cash needed to pay the contractors over a three-year period, then collect the money from the flood control district every year until it is paid off. Pacifica, which has just a few blocks in the project, reported inability to advance funds. San Bruno, Daly City and South San Francisco and the county will take care of the financing.

After Wilsey and Ham's preliminary report is expected, a final report is expected. A public hearing on these plans is expected in late November. Plans and specifications will then be drawn up and the contract is expected to be awarded in July. It is expected that the project will take two additional years to complete.

Colma Creek

Flood Project Passes Test

The Colma Creek flood control project passed its first test as the season's first rains, Oct. 22, failed to cause any appreciable flooding, according to South San Francisco city spokesmen.

SSF Embezzler Gets Suspended Sentence

A former woman bookkeeper for a South San Francisco electric firm who embezzled company funds over a period of six years to help finance purchase of a Hillsborough home and to indulge expensive tastes, received a suspended sentence last week in Superior Court.

Hovener, Superior Court Judge Gerald E. Ragan ordered that the defendant, Betty Ann Mills, 44, of San Bruno, must spend 30 days in county jail and make restitution of the amount she took as conditions of five years probation.

Probation Officer Dolores Wozniak states in a probation report on Mrs. Mills that anywhere from $30,000 to $57,000 allegedly was taken by the defendant between 1966 and 1972 while she was employed as a bookkeeper for Bergesen Electric.

The report states that Mrs. Mills forged and altered company checks and huge sums of petty cash from sales over the counter to help finance purchase of a home in Hillsborough, install a swimming pool and furnish the home lavishly, and could not meet her "extravagant expenses" on her $300 a month salary.

Mrs. Mills' attorney, Clarence Knight, said the defendant, who pleaded guilty to embezzlement Oct. 3 in Northern District Municipal Court, contends the amount taken was "more like $10,000."

The attorney also noted that there was no recommendation in the probation report for reducing the crime to a misdemeanor after conditions of probation were met.

Judge Ragan replied, "I think she deserves it. To keep it a felony, the rest of her life. She evidently wanted to live a very good life. There was no reason for embezzlement you see in some cases. She is lucky she is not going to state prison."

The judge told the attractive blonde defendant that he was being "very lenient for the amount of money you took, but you will get a taste of what jail is like."

Judge Ragan set the amount of restitution at $10,000, subject to modification dependent on the amount it is determined was embezzled when a $250,000 civil suit filed by the electric company against Mrs. Mills is tried.

The judge ordered that Mrs. Mills repay $2,500, which her attorney reported is in a bank account, within 48 hours and that she begin making monthly payments of $250 starting Jan. 1, 1974.

Mrs. Mills, who moved to San Bruno following a divorce, was given until today at 8 p.m. to surrender at county jail and begin serving her term.

Knight said he will request that the defendant be placed in the work-furlough program.

The fast tax shuffle with YOUR money at stake

Proposition No. 1 does NOT do what it claims ... cut your taxes

- It Does NOT cut down a single state spending program.
- It could only put a limit on state spending by shuffling all some of these programs in county and local governments and districts ... high way patrol and construction ... basic educational programs ... pollution control ... consumer protection ... senior citizen tax exemptions ... you name it.
- That means HIGHER county and local taxes on property and sales.
- It would grant clean constitutional sanction for local taxes on your income.
- It will inevitably lead to other new taxes.

A Bowling Ball Exercise

FORMER MISS AMERICA, Judi Ford, shows Westlake Bowling Center owner John Swanson (seated) how to exercise daily with 14 pound bowling ball. At 22, Judi is still in top form, both on the bowling lanes (her average is 165) and in the beauty department. She demonstrated exercises last week in Daly City for a number of local housewives — and a few out-of-shape husbands. (Post Photo by George Brooker)

By FRANK LaPIERRE
A green-eyed blonde from Illinois who switched from bowling to the trampoline to achieve athletic excellence and the coveted Miss America crown in 1969, was in Daly City last week.
Judi Ford, 5-foot 7-inch, 125-pound "country girl," at 22 is now a senior at the University of Illinois majoring in — what else — physical education.
"I started bowling at age nine with the kids in the neighborhood," Judi told Westlake Bowling Center owner John Swanson. "One boy's father owned a bowling center, and we all loved the game so much we went practically all the time."
And there is little doubt that Judi is one of the most striking (in beauty and on the lanes) bowlerettes ever to come to North San Mateo County.
Judi is also the only female member of President Nixon's Committee of Physical Fitness and Sports.

Her love affair with bowling is more than just a fun sport — she does it to keep in shape, she said.
Besides completing her student teaching requirements and occasional personal appearances, Judi is currently the National Bowling Council's "Bowl-A-Shape" representative, traveling across the country to talk about bowling as a way to keep the shape you've got, or improve it, without working hard.
"I bowled regularly until age 15 and carried an average of 156," the former Miss America told women gathered to listen and learn at the Westlake center.
"Bowling helped me develop coordination for my trampoline exercises and now I enjoy the sport because it is good fun and body exercise."

Her skills as a trampolinist and bowler developed early.
At 15, Judi became a skilled gymnast and won a berth on the gymnastics team, representing the nation at the International Gymnaestrada in Vienna, Austria, in 1965.
She attributes her desire to become a top bowler to her mother.
"Mother used to bowl in a league, so it was natural for her children to pick up the game," says Judi. "I have a cousin a month younger than I who often bowled over 200. I think he felt cheated to be younger than I and, as a result, worked hard to beat me at bowling."
Using a bowling ball as a weight, Judi shows interested persons how to exercise at home as a means to stay in shape.

She still bowls a great game and maintains an average of 165, according to Swanson.

SSF Sign Maker Fails in Challenge

A South San Francisco sign maker unsuccessfully challenged the planning commission in that city Thursday, on its policy that no additional free standing illuminated signs on poles be permitted on Spruce Street.

In other action Thursday, the planners bowed to the Crocker National Bank's insistence that 34 parking places were adequate in their new drive-in bank to be built on the southwest corner of Miller and Linden avenues. They set a Nov. 13 date for a public hearing for the rezoning of a 9.23-acre site between Mayfair Village subdivision and Spruce Avenue.

The challenge on signs came from Richard B. Hanel, owner of the South San Francisco Veterinary at 135 S. Spruce Ave., and his sign-maker, Milton Lazarus, of Milt's Signs.

Hanel was appealing a denial from the architectural committee on the proposed four by eight-foot free-standing plastic sign. He complained that the sign was vital needed for identification of his hospital, since many of his clients had complained to him that they had to drive several times in order to find the building.

"We're trying to move away from the free standing sign on a pole," Commissioner Eugene R. Mullin explained.

Commissioner Homer Hale noted that a veterinarian in Westborough has no sign at all.

"I took my dog in there on a Sunday," he noted, "and you would not believe what a long line there was... and it wasn't any sign that brought them in."

Lazarus asserted that it really does not matter what kind of a sign is put up, as long as it is a well-built sign. His proposed sign, he claimed, would be very attractive.

"I listened, but I didn't believe what I heard," Lazarus declared. "... I cannot get through my mind why you have this thing against pole-type signs."

Commissioner Mario Raffaeli noted that the commission had been turning down such signs to numerous applicants, including the Crocker Bank and an eight-story building.

Lazarus asked about an illuminated sign on the face of the building.

"I'd hate to have the dog not buy a sign," Commissioner Joseph C. Mathewson replied, "and be told by the power company that he could not turn it on."

The commissioners finally voted to deny the permit and refer the matter back to the architectural committee for a possible compromise. Lazarus expressed the hope that the two committee members who expressed opposition to his position. He suggested disguising the pole with wood or brick so that, in the words of one commissioner, it would not look like a "Shell Oil Company sign."

The Crocker Bank's use permit application for a drive-in bank had been referred from the previous meeting, at which time commissioners had complained that the 34 parking spaces shown would take care of only the employees and that the customers would require 21 additional spaces. The bank manager, however, promised not to permit his employees to park there, causing a commissioner to complain that the employees would then park in the city's parking lots, which would negate the purpose of these lots.

In moving for approval of the use permit for a drive-in bank last night, Mullin noted that "though I would prefer to see additional parking, the new bank would be an asset to downtown... I don't see that design as worsening the situation downtown, considering that the present facility does not have any parking at all."

Mathewson asked the bank representatives what would now happen to the current property on Grand Avenue.

"We would simply dispose of it," was the reply.

Commissioners adopted a resolution of intention to rezone a 9.23-acre site facing Spruce Avenue in the wake of previous protests from Mayfair Village protests to a previous rezoning proposal by the city.

The problem had arisen when the owner recently had the site subdivided, with a short cul de sac to serve two newly created lots in the rear of the property. Under the current zoning, the two rear lots would be for apartment houses, while the two front lots would be for heavy commercial use.

Planners approved a variance request by Richard Toto, 731 Park Way, for a request to build a one-story addition to his ranch-style home, with a 42 per cent lot coverage and a setback of just five feet instead of 15. Toto pleaded a hardship due to the unusual topography of his hillside lot. He agreed, at the commission's instance, to save his huge backyard tree.

Planners held over subdivision of a 2-acre lot on the westerly side of Harbor Road, about 640 feet south of East Grand Avenue. The Golden Gate Meat Co., now located on 4th Street in San Francisco, wanted to build on the back and sell off the frontage, keeping a 25-foot strip for a driveway.

Diane Pike (left) and Arleen Lorraine will conduct the Nov. 3 seminar at the College of San Mateo on "The Naturalness of the Supernatural." The workshop is sponsored by the College of San Mateo Community Services program.

Brisbane Births

Accident Victim

Two victims involved in a series of accidents in Brisbane Thursday were reported recovering at Peninsula Hospital from their injuries today.

Kathy Clancy, 18, daughter of Brisbane postmaster John Clancy, 300 Alvarado Street, and volunteer fireman Richard Peters, 18, of Tulare street, suffered injured legs in two separate, but related accidents on San Bruno avenue in that byside city shortly after 6 p.m. Oct. 18.

Miss Clancy was driving at what police called "an excessive rate of speed" along the street when she swerved into a PG&E pole, injuring herself and two passengers inside the car - Darlene Gannon, 20, and her 18-month-old daughter, Malani, of 219 San Benito Avenue, Brisbane.

The driver was not cited at the scene.

While police, firemen and workers from the city's public utility section were at the scene of the Clancy crash, a second fire truck responding to another aid call clipped a parked city vehicle.

The truck then pulled down several yards of overhead wires, according to police.

Some 200 feet from the scene of the initial wreck fireman Peters fell off the fire truck, injuring his foot.

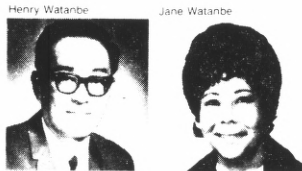

Damage to the fire truck and city vehicle was estimated at $500.

Storm in Wake of The Nixon Firings

Will the Saturday Night Massacre go down in history with Custer's Last Stand?

Such a storm has risen following the events of Saturday October 30, 1973, that it may take months to understand their full effect. Some conclusions, however, seem possible at this time.

The most significant result of that day and immediately succeeding days was the triumph of law. Through the fire of constitutional crisis came its ultimate victory. In preceding months American jurisprudence had proven that it was stronger than White House aides and Cab-net Officers. A vice president resigned rather than face indictment and trial.

In the surge of public reaction following the Saturday Night Massacre it became crystal clear that the people expect even a President to obey the law — in this instance law in the form of a final order of a district court judge as modified by a panel of the Circuit Court of Appeals. That order became final — just as it would as to you and me when the deadline for appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court passed with the afternoon of Friday the 19th and the President's lawyers had not filed appropriate papers with the highest court.

What caused the public reaction following the removal of Richardson, Hickleshaus and Cox is complex. Several motivations were probably involved in the outpouring of public sentiment. But a prime moving factor must be recognized as a broad based public demand that the final order of court — which on court closing on Friday night had the status of the law of the land — be obeyed even by a President.

We have, in this cynical age, seen a new vision of the republic. If you will, a political, legal and constitutional miracle. With the commitment of the President to deliver the tapes to Judge Sirica that miracle was confirmed, and it is this: the law is greater than men and men — Americans — are thereby made greater. The phoenix has risen and will fly long after the ashes of Watergate have blown away.

Many events and attitudes of the last decade have given rise to anxieties about the condition of our republic. Some have voiced doubts of its ability to withstand the pressures of modern American society, and a few have even gloomily predicted its end. From the Saturday Night Massacre has come a most hopeful sign of the durability of our constitution. In a most unlikely context, our President has spoken eloquently in support of constitutional government.

As is always the case with great outpourings of public sentiment, the risk of overreaction is present. Just as every election is seen as a "mandate" by the victor, this most recent expression of the will of the people could be taken into more than it was.

It has, of course, opened wide the floodgates holding back talk of impeachment. Prior to the Massacre, open mention of impeachment of the President was the private preserve of mavericks and the overzealous. Since then the dialogue has changed radically, and opinions concerning removal and resignation rise from every quarter.

Impeachment for what? The constitution provides: "The President, Vice President, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors."

At this moment, what impeachable act? The President promises to obey the court order and in the strange context of events there never was open defiance of the law of the land. Whether or not we agree with the removal of Richardson, Hickleshaus and Cox, the President had every right to act as he did. For the present, at least there is only suspicion, passion and inflated judgment.

The facts remain unknown. Subsequent investigation, testimony, and even the celebrated tapes themselves, could disclose an act or acts that arguably fit the constitutional standards. Presently there appears to be no rational basis for action. If so many facts come to light there will be plenty of time for action, and no shortage of actors.

Pacifica Parks Issue Studied

Two trustees of the Laguna Salada School District were appointed Thursday night to serve on a six-person committee to study proposed joint development of park facilities on school grounds.

They were Trustees Dole Buettgenback and Sid Loran, both of whom had in the past been critical of the school district spending money on school sites when it appeared that such expenditure would take away from funds to be spent on education.

They will meet with a committee which includes two councilmen and two water district directors, who would consider the possibility of reduced water rates for school and park turfs.

Trustees approved a resolution certifying to the state that the district has four unused school sites—Fairway, Pavlov, Edgemoor, Pedro Valley Site No. 6 and Fairmont Site No. 3.

School Supt. James Brian explained that there now appears to be no need for the sites, since enrollment has been dropping. The resolution was requested by the state under a new law which requires non-use payments for certain school sites not used for a five-year period. The trustees asked for a new evaluation of the sites to decide whether to dispose of them, and so avoid making payments.

One of the sites, Brian said, Fairway Park, has Little League ball diamonds and a concession stand — but the state still considers it "unused" under the language of the Education Code. Trustees voted to table a motion for an agreement with the State Division of Highways over soundproofing Pacific Manor School. Brian was asked to invite a representative of the state to the next meeting to answer some questions over the project.

Dist. Engineer T. R. Lambers had written the district, notifying it that noise level measurements were taken of school rooms in Pacific Manor and that the school was found to be eligible for noise abatement measures.

Under the proposed agreement, the school district would hire a consultant to develop the preliminary proposal. Trustees were not clear as to whether the arrangement would cost the district anything, or how much it would cost.

The board voted to cancel its Nov. 22 meeting, hold an executive session Nov. 15 for semi-annual evaluation of the superintendent, and cancel the Dec. 27 meeting.

Trustees voted to recognize three certificated employ organizations — the four-member Laguna Salada Elementary Administrators Association, the 222-member Laguna Salada Education Association, and the 64-member American Federation of Teachers. Local 1481.

Pacifican Files Law Suit to Regain Job

G. S. Dang of Pacifica has filed a $2 million lawsuit against the San Francisco

Civil Service Commission and the San Francisco Water Department.

He is asking for the return of his former job as assistant civil engineer with the water department, and payment of his salary from May 25, 1972. In his petition for a writ of mandate and complaint for declaratory relief, Dang states he was hired July, 1969, as a junior civil engineer and was promoted to assistant civil engineer December, 1971, on a six-month probationary period.

On May 9, 1972, Dang states, Principal Engineer J. L. Bardoff notified him he was being fired from his probationary post. He presented Dang a resignation form which he said would facilitate his transfer back to his permanent position in the Department of Public Works.

In truth, Dang claimed, it was a form for resignation from his permanent position as well, and he signed it under false pretenses. It was not until, what Dang called an unnecessary hearing before the civil service commission, that he was returned to his permanent position, and then he was wrongly denied a place on the promotional list.

Dang alleges that the real reason for actions taken against him was that he wrote an article.

The reason given by Bardoff for firing Dang as assistant civil engineer was "an inability or unwillingness to accept direction from supervisory personnel, an argumentative manner verging on actual insubordination, inability to work harmoniously with your fellow employees, unsatisfactory attendance record, lack of knowledge of the standard procedures, and repeated disruption of normal office procedure by agitating fellow employees."

Dang, however, alleges he was fired because of a column he wrote in the San Francisco Progress in which he was critical of the city government.

RONALD EDDY

Navy, Commissaryman Third Class Roland E. Eddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elden C. Eddy of 722 Claridge Drive, and husband of Mrs. Elaine Eddy of 112 McKinney, all of Pacifica, returned to his homeport after a seven-month deployment to the Western Pacific on board the dock landing ship USS Thomaston. While deployed, he participated in landing exercises, conducted beach surveys and transported U.S. Marines and their equipment between various ports. Stops in Hong Kong and Manila were among the port visits.

'The Ghost Sonata' at SF State

Swedish playwright August Strindberg's seldom-produced "The Ghost Sonata" will have one of its rare engagements at the San Francisco State University's Arena Theater at 1800 Holloway in the Creative Arts Building at 8 p.m., Nov. 1, 2, 3.

General admission is $2 student tickets are $1. This intense drama is produced within mystic proportions, past guilts and present traumas abound. It is directed by graduate student Gregory Brooks from Santa Cruz. He is the first student to direct a major production at the university in its 20 years of staging.

Many critics consider "The Ghost Sonata" to be a classic. It concerns the myriad fears which the older generation may inflict upon the young.

Saturday will be a busy, busy day for the ladies in charge of the Mercy Guild's annual champagne luncheon and fashion show.

Mrs. Lew McCarthy, the general chairman of "Seasonal Silhouette," and her subcommittee chairmen have been laboring long and hard to make this year's presentation of fashions one of the guild's most successful benefits to date and it appears that they are succeeding. Mrs. William Forner, reservations chairman, has been pleased by the brisk sale of tickets, and Mrs. Robert Massey reports that investment tickets have been selling well.

Mrs. John Spring and Mrs. Zora Connolly, who have been heading the decorations committee, are enthusiastic about the centerpieces and room decorations that the committee has assembled, and Mrs. Charles Goebel is certain that the luncheon menu will satisfy even the most jaded luncheon-goers.

OTHERS who are still busy working on preparations for the show include Mrs. Robert Kagnersch, models chairman. Mrs. Richard Holl, hostesses. Mrs. Richard Russell, programs. Mrs. Karline Simonian, Jr., door prizes. Mrs. Mario Asturians, table prizes and Mrs. Albert Bucci, publicity.

The committee has elected to show the fall fashions from Macy's California in the beautiful Fine Arts Little Theater on the Mercy campus following the noon-time luncheon in Barrett Hall.

For information about last minute reservations, being sold for $6.50 per person, contact Mrs. Forner, 731-9874. Proceeds from the show will benefit the Tennis Court Fund on an ongoing project of the Mercy Guild. Mrs. Bucci said.

DEN MOTHERS, interested Cub moms and dads and Cub masters are invited to attend the Pow Wow being sponsored by the Golden Gate, Candlestick, El Camino and Serra districts, Boy Scouts of America, Saturday at Abraham Lincoln High School in San Francisco.

"The Development of a Boy Oriented Program" will be the theme for the day. Pack Administration, skits, and ceremonies, crafts, drug program, games, the Webelos den and an orientation in Cubing are the components which will be presented to pack leaders during two sessions, one in the morning and another in the afternoon.

Pre-registration is not required however, the Pow Wow leaders are hopeful that as many persons as possible will pre-register in order to enable the section leaders to have a rough estimate of the number of persons they will be working with in various groups.

For information or to pre-register, contact Boy Scout Headquarters by calling 647-9509.

SUNDAY is the day set for the 17th annual Sodality Enrollment Breakfast to be held at Our Lady of Mercy Parish in Westlake.

Mrs. Richard Mudge, spiritual director of the parish, announced that new and present members will attend Mass at 9 a.m. and subsequently take breakfast in the parish hall. There is no charge for this event. Call Mrs. Joseph Potter, sodality chairman, for reservations.

AN "OUTDOOR Skills Faire" is being planned for Girl Scouts Saturday and Sunday, according to Mrs. Roz Marino. The event will be held at the Bothin Youth Center in Marin County.

For additional information call Mrs. Margaret Connolly, 756-1210.

MRS. ROSEMARIE Corona would like everyone to know that she has the Christmas Card catalogues on display in Mary's Help Hospital, on the second floor, as a part of the annual benefit sale staged by the Mary's Help Hospital Guild.

A saleslady will be on hand to take orders each Tuesday and Thursday between 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. during the pre-Christmas shopping season.

Proceeds from the sale are used to help fulfill the guild's pledge to the coronary care unit of the hospital.

Anyone wishing to buy cards through the guild, but who is unable to visit the hospital at the specified hours and days is urged to call Mrs. Corona, 333-2712, and arrange a more convenient personalized shopping hour.

COCKTAILS, dinner and dancing were enjoyed by members of the Holy Angels Women's Guild and their guests at the annual parish social held this past weekend.

Mrs. Conrad Reich and Mrs. John Lagomarsino were among the ladies of the parish who worked hard to make this traditional get together for members of the parish a success.

From the Business Bureau Mobile Home Complaints

By LORENE BEASLEY

Much dissatisfaction has been expressed in complaints of Mobile Home buyers to the Better Business Bureau concerning non-fulfillment of warranties.

The name "mobile home" is a misnomer. Today's mobile home is designed, engineered and built for use as a permanent residence and no longer is pulled by the family car. It ranges in price from around $4,000 to more than $10,000 and comes in a variety of types and sizes—available in three to four bedrooms.

More than 70% of mobile homes produced today are built to established national standards developed by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) and called ANSI Standard A119 for Mobile Homes. The standard covers four basic parts of the home: (1) construction of body and frame; (2) plumbing system; (3) heating system; (4) electrical system.

Manufacturers who belong to the Mobile Home Manufacturers' Association of the Trailer Coach or the Trailer Coach Association must display the silver oval A119-1 Standard Seal (or gold seal if home is a total electric space, the cost of financing mobile home) on their product. A seal next to the mobile home door certifies that the home meets with minimum requirements of the Standard. Many manufacturers exceed them.

Standard A119-1 for Mobile Homes requires that all materials have a retarded flame-spread rating—Type C as established by the National Fire Protection Association.

The frame of the home must be strong enough to support the same weight or load as an average house would require. Floor systems must carry a 40-pound per square foot live load (people moving about) in addition to the normal "dead" load of the structure itself and furnishings.

Walls, roof and trusses must be built to withstand wind and snowload of specific minimum forces and proper tie-down anchors. Manufacturers who belong to the Manufacturers' Association must post a diagram which shows the position and number of placement piers and tie-down anchors in areas subject to high winds.

Also a map must be provided that shows the section of the United States where the mobile home was built. This determines the snow load and wind velocity load which can be expected to withstand providing it has been properly tied down or anchored.

The home must be insulated to maintain a temperature of 70 degrees at an outside temperature specified for a particular geographic region by both the mobile home manufacturer and furnace company.

Gas water heaters are required to be sealed off to facilitate combustion of fuel must be supplied from outside, and residue from exhaust fumes must be discharged to the outside. All wiring and outlets must comply with requirements of the National Electrical Code.

A prospective buyer should check the floor plans carefully to see if there is adequate family living in terms of annual percentage rate, the amount of monthly payments and the number of years payments will have to be made.

The manufacturers of the furnace, range, refrigerator and other appliances in the home provide their individual warranties covering their products. If the appliance manufacturer requires that they be registered with their headquarters for validation, it should be done at move-in time.

Breakfast Stated

The 17th annual Sodality enrollment breakfast will be held at Our Lady of Mercy, Westlake, Nov. 4.

New and present members will receive Communion at the 9 a.m. Mass. Breakfast will be served in the parish hall immediately following the Mass.

Reservations will be taken adequate family living in terms of annual percentage rate, the amount of monthly payments and the number of years payments will have to be made.

Band to March At Dedication

The Oceana High School Band will lead Pacifica's Fishing Pier Dedication parade Nov. 10. Chamber of Commerce manager Tom Sawyer announced yesterday.

Some 500 entry forms have gone out to Pacifica schools, businesses, youth groups and other units which may be interested in taking part.

"We are hoping for 30 to 40 units to be marching in the parade," Sawyer declared.

The parade will form at Palmetto and Clarendon, right beside the Sharp Park Golf Course, and begin at 10 a.m. The parade will proceed north along Francisco Boulevard, alongside the freeway to Paloma Avenue, and then return on Beach Boulevard, along the ocean, to the pier and the new, $1.5-million sewer plant, where the dedication ceremonies start at 11:15 a.m.

At 12:30 p.m. the Chamber of Commerce will host a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce. The parade will be judged in three categories: Decorated cars, floats, and specialty entries such as floats and floats.

The meeting will be topped by the city's annual awards dinner and dance, celebrating the city's 16th anniversary.

Beginning Moose Lodge Enrolls New Members

Past District President Bob Snow, from South San Francisco, was the speaker and honored guest at the S.F. Moose Lodge No. 26, 7335 Mission St., Daly City, recently.

He gave a brief outline of when and how the order was started. And what it is today with over one million members.

Lodge Governor Ira McKee opened the meeting, and presented a class of six new members to the lodge. The lodge are Jerry Dolle, Robert Denning, Kenneth Morlen, Keith Petty, Thomas Hagedale, and the Class Representative John Belluomini who is 88 years old.

Belluomini thanked the members and the governor for taking in a "young 88-year-old man."

Trash Novels

"Most novels are trash! Most books are trash!" writes David Slavitt, the poet, novelist and critic.

Trash books are those "that come out, that sell in the millions, are made into movies, and then fade away to gather dust and embarrass us." They are books that fade away so quickly the authors can scarcely remember writing them, and the public cannot understand what it was that compelled their reading and later their viewing in movie houses and on TV.

Among such dust gatherers, Slavitt names "Peyton Place," "The Carpetbaggers," "The Valley of the Dolls," "The Prize," and Slavitt's own book, "The Exhibitionist" which he wrote using the name of Henry Sutton.

HE FINDS books in categories that he calls "middle-brow" and "high-brow" to be no better, from a purely literary point of view, than other kinds of trash. Included in these types are "The Winds of War," "Airport," "Deliverance," "The Source," "Myra Breckinridge," "Candy," "Portnoy's Complaint," "The Fixer," "Couples," "The Confessions of Nat Turner," and "The Group."

Trash sells better than the good stuff, and herein lies its value. It "indeed supports good writing by keeping the publishers and the booksellers in business, the circulation figures in libraries looking good, class enrollments high and writers eating."

There are similarities that exist in most trash novels: The plotting is of secondary importance they lend themselves to sight reading and speed reading, they gather authenticity from "blips of details" of the times, their contents spin around the lives of the rich and the glamorous, they string incidents upon a strand that connects them to public ideas and familiar incidents. Thus, they become part of America's often mentioned egalitarian snarl.

CURRENTLY, it is a must with trash novels to demonstrate over and over that fame and wealth are hollow mockeries and that we live in an age of relentless puritanism where the wages of success may turn out to be suffering, loneliness, impotence, betrayal, and, not infrequently, death.

For example Slavitt sights "Love Story," "If Jennie had not married above her station then she would not have contracted leukemia, and with nothing more than the miseries of irregularity and denture break, could have lived to a golden old age, secure in her knowledge that nobody ever accused her husband of ring-around-the-collar."

Slavitt's article leads to a thought. Perhaps we look at trash literature with too much seriousness. Its popularity embarrasses us. It makes us feel like we are "dump pickers" when in reality trash writing has its place in a society that finds comfort in swallowing pills and eating diet foods. The popularity of trash novels follows the same laws that produce most public fads.

Trash novels are part of America's great refuse collection, and "dump picking is a great sport."

The article by Slavitt may be found in the November issue of "American Libraries."

EDWARD H. BROWNE, executive director of San Mateo County Rehabilitation and Research Center, Easter Seal Society in Burlingame, poses with the top teen-ager volunteer award winner Laura Werner, a student at El Camino High School in South San Francisco. An annual awards dinner honoring the many volunteers and workers of the society and rehabilitation center, was attended by some 150 guests at the Villa Chartier Restaurant, San Mateo, Thursday evening. The Easter Seal Society through donations, grants and sale of seals maintains the facilities to help those crippled through birth defects or by injuries received in accidents.

Gregorio Is Honored For Arts Support

State Senator Arlen Gregorio was recently presented a plaque expressing the Peninsula Art Association's appreciation for his support of the new California law to aid local artists.

Meeting at the San Mateo County Arts Council building "Sunshine Cottage" on the Borel Estate, nearly 100 members of the Association heard Gregorio explain the law, known as "SB 121."

Although California's contributions to the arts remains less than that of other states, he said, it is money that can be used by local communities, on an 80 per cent matching basis, to foster local projects.

Gregorio said he would be keeping an eye on results of his legislation.

Program Chairman Rudy Prabus presented the plaque to Senator Gregorio, and introduced him and co-speaker William Nemoyten to the gathered artists.

Nemoyten, executive director of the San Mateo County Arts Council, explained the purpose of the council and its goals.

The group has some 23 member organizations now, he said, and expects to have 30 by the end of the year.

As a tax-supported non-profit organization, he said, the Arts Council provides its members with facilities for conducting their organizational business, printing of newsletters and mailing lists.

The council has also conducted a survey of the county's arts resources, being completed by artist consultant Bill Moskin. A report on this survey should be ready in about a month, Nemoyten said.

He said the council had also helped publish a book of poetry by six local writers, is participating in an interior design seminar, completing arrangements for an "artist in residency" program and attempting to set up "mini galleries" around the county.

SC Chorus Sets 'The Creation'

The Skyline College Community Chorus under the direction of Robert R. Miller, in cooperation with the chorus of the First Congregational Church of San Francisco, will present a special performance of Joseph Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation." The musical program will be Nov. 11, at 4 p.m., in the First Congregational Church, Post and Mason streets, San Francisco. Admission is free.

Conducting the concert will be Dr. W. Leonard Beck with the pipe organ being played by organist Carl Eagle. Soloists will include Bay Area artists Georgia Prugh, soprano; Dale Emde, tenor; and Walter Matthes, bass.

SC Music Department Director Miller stated that the college's community chorus comprises both day and evening college students who perform both on and off the campus throughout the year. Following their participation in the Haydn oratorio they will be performing with other Bay Area choruses in the Christmas portion of Handel's "The Messiah" with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, Dec. 9. Miller also noted that rehearsals for "The Creation" will be taking place Nov. 1 and 8 at 7 p.m. at the church with the final rehearsal scheduled for the day of the performance.

Council Seeks Artist For New County Seal

The San Mateo County Arts Council has been assigned to come up with a new design for the official County of San Mateo Seal.

Elio Fontana of Colma chairs a council committee that will tackle the job. Committee investigation has turned up the information that the County of San Mateo has several seals, most of them representing different county departments. The official seal of the county supervisors pictures a "side hill plow," commonly used in the hilly area of Half Moon Bay when the county was chiefly agricultural in nature.

A new seal design will represent the county as it is today—a dynamic, prosperous, growing area with a wide range of assets.

Professional commercial artists who reside in San Mateo County and are interested in this challenging design problem should submit portfolios with samples of their previous works to the San Mateo County Arts Council, 141 Borel Ave., San Mateo, by tomorrow.

The new seal design will be used for a variety of purposes, including the embossed seal for legal documents, for stationery purposes, business cards and plaques.

Members of the County Seal Committee, in addition to Chairman Fontana, are Bill Cheney, managing art director for Sunset Magazine; Don Carlson, artist and sculptor from Pacifica; Lois Kelley, president of the Peninsula Art Association; Rahn Becker, administrative analyst, County of San Mateo; Dick Lee, assistant director, Building Construction and General Services; and Bill Nemoyten, executive director of the San Mateo County Arts Council.

ORT Sabbath is being observed by chapters throughout the country and will be an evening of rededication to the principal of man helping man to help himself through vocational training. The ladies of Buena Vista Chapter will host the Oneg Shabbat (social hour) that will follow the service.

Missionary Expert Sets Lecture for Methodists

Petite Sugarman, chairman of Christian Global Concerns, and Shirley Jackson, member of the United Methodist Women of Daly City, invite the public to hear Rev. David Blackburn Nov. 12 at Helen Dilbeck home, 170 Blackburn Terrace, Pacifica at 8 p.m.

Interpreting priorities in national and overseas mission work, especially as they relate to designated mission giving, is Blackburn's prime responsibility as a staff member of the General Board of Global Ministries of The United Methodist Church.

As such he works with conference and district leaders as well as local churches in seeking understanding of the work of the World and National Divisions, and the Committee on Relief of the general board.

Seven countries from Mexico to Panama were on his itinerary in 1973 as he drove 14,400 miles to visit Methodist-related congregations and projects of education, literacy and Christian literature, medical work and rural agricultural development.

Special contacts were made in Nicaragua regarding unique refugee housing and feeding programs related to the Managua earthquake. In addition to visiting many mission projects in the U.S., Blackburn's previous travels have taken him to Methodist centers in Hungary, Yugoslavia, Austria, Germany, Switzerland and 10 countries in Africa.

As Field Representative for the 12 western states, Blackburn cultivates Advance Specials, which are designated gifts of individuals, churches and other groups for top priority mission projects. United Methodists have given over $17 million for these projects since 1948 and now give about $8½ million annually.

Before opening his San Francisco office in 1970, Blackburn was based in the board's New York office. Developing information and literature on Advance Specials, he prepared four editions of Partnership in Missions, a catalog of these projects which are supported beyond the regular mission giving of the denomination.

An Alaskan missionary and superintendent from 1952 to 1964, Blackburn and his family now make their home in Palo Alto.

NELL NORTON Sugar 'n Spice

Tonight is Halloween. We must all beware of witches and goblins and things that go bump in the night. The neighbors' windows are full (and have been for weeks) of fearsome pictures, ghosts and black cats threatening passers-by. We'd better have our treats when the trick or treaters come.

Long before trick or treat time however, it would be a good idea to make up a treat for the whole family. These molasses cookies, topped with a bright orange frosting make a fitting treat for Halloween.

SPICY MOLASSES BARS

- 2-thirds cup margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3-fourths teaspoon ginger
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 egg, unbeaten
- 1/4 cup molasses
- 1 1/2 teaspoons soda
- 1 cup water
- 3 cups sifted flour
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

In large mixing bowl blend the two-thirds cup margarine, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon and three-fourths teaspoon ginger. Add the one and one-fourth cups sugar gradually, and cream well. Add the egg and beat. Stir in the one-fourth cup molasses and mix well. Dissolve the one and one-half teaspoons soda in the fourth cup water. Add to the creamed mixture alternately with the flour. Start with half the flour, then the water, finishing with the flour, mixing well after each addition. Add the one cup raisins and the half cup nuts. Pour into a greased 9x13-inch baking pan. Bake in 350-degree oven 25 to 30 minutes. Cool and frost lightly with orange colored frosting.

FROSTING

- 3 tablespoons margarine
- 2 cups sifted powdered sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 tablespoons milk
- yellow and red food coloring

Cream the three tablespoons margarine in medium bowl. Add the two cups powdered sugar alternately with the two tablespoons milk, beating after each addition. Add the fourth teaspoon vanilla and the yellow and red food coloring. This amount covers the molasses bars rather thickly.

I received some inquiries about the zucchini bread we featured last week. The zucchini is raw, chopped fine and allowed to stand in the colander to drain and then pressed to squeeze out any liquid.

Hobby Show At Serramonte

Serramonte Center will host a Hobby Show Nov. 10 with the public invited to participate as individuals or groups.

Displays will be set up on the mall, and everyone will "do his own thing." Cash prizes will be awarded for the most interesting and educational display.

This is not an event designed to sell items, but an opportunity for groups to gather new members, for collectors to display, for craftsmen to show their talents. Serramonte plans to include wood carving, ham radios, model airplanes, electric trains, weaving, model building, and cycling in the show.

Because of limited space, crafts and more common hobbies will be limited and on a first come basis. For further information, write Donna Lee Henderson, No. 3 Serramonte Center, Daly City, or call 962-4416, 9:30 to 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Cancer Growth Toll Revealed

Breast cancer will kill 12,000 American women this year, Dr. Robert O. Holmes, Mills Memorial Hospital pathologist, told a seminar last week at College of San Mateo.

And 75,000 new cases of breast cancer will be detected in 1973, said Dr. Holmes, who is also an associate clinical professor at the University of California Medical Center.

The all-day workshop was sponsored by the CSM Community Services program, in cooperation with the 17th District Parent-Teachers' Association, Mills Hospital and the San Mateo County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Twenty years ago, reported Dr. Holmes, there were 10 new breast cancer patients for every 100,000 women in the United States; today that figure has jumped to 65 per 100,000.

Breast cancer, he disclosed, is now the leading cause of cancer death among women in this country. Until the 1940s, cancer of the uterus was the leading cause of death from cancer. Dr. Holmes noted, but the discovery of an early detection method, called the "pap smear" test, resulted in a "significant drop."

Dr. Holmes stressed repeatedly that early detection, followed immediately by treatment, represent the patient's best chances for survival.

There is a 48 per cent recovery rate when breast cancer is caught in the first tumor has been there for 10 stages, he stated. When the cancer cells have spread to the lymph nodes, the chances for recovery drop to 42 per cent and when treatment takes place "at a more distant time" those chances plummet to 12 per cent.

Dr. Holmes underscored the importance of "self-examination and diagnosis" in order to detect breast cancer in the early stages when the cure rate is very high.

Reception Set For Mrs. Jones

The Hillsborough home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Townsend will be the location for the Reception given by the San Mateo County Diabetes Association in honor of Jeanne Jones, author of The Calculating Cook, a gourmet cookbook for diabetics and dieters.

Assisting Mrs. Townsend with the plans for the Nov. 8 reception will be Mrs. Arthur Lundin, Hillsborough; Mrs. Jerome A. Brown, Millbrae; Mrs. Charles Coffman, San Carlos; Mrs. Henry R. Gall, Redwood City; Mrs. Dirk Schumann, Belmont; Mrs. J. L. Donalaya, South San Francisco; Mrs. Robert R. Dimmison and Mrs. Burton W. Jones, San Mateo.

Jeanne Jones, who lives in La Jolla, is a diabetic and her book is an outgrowth of her attempt to adjust her own and her family's favorite recipes to the restrictions of the diabetic diet prescribed by her doctor five years ago.

Mrs. Jones serves on the board of directors of the Southern California Diabetes Association and is a member of a national legislative committee lobbying for laws to help diabetics and founder of an auxiliary to increase summer camp programs for children in San Diego.

Mrs. Jones has donated the proceeds from the sale of her book to the San Mateo County Diabetes Association to help further their work in Education, Detection, and Research Programs.

She will autograph her book at the 5 to 7 p.m. reception.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

John Raitt, Phil Lehr's Steakery Dinner Guest

Broadway stage star John Raitt was the center of attention when he stopped in at the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco, to feast on Beef Wellington and renew a long-time friendship with host Phil Lehr. We suggest you try the Arroz Con Pollo (chicken, Peruvian style) or Ceviche (the Peruvian pickled fish) at Frank and Fannie Torres beach restaurant in Montara (just south of Devil's Slide on Coast Highway One). This hospitable couple has always featured South American dishes, along with many fish specialties. Not only does Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's Rockaway Beach produce outstanding pizzas, but superb Italian dinners as well. Under the ownership of Enrico Romano, this famed Italian dining spot is known for its versatility when it comes to preparing dishes you'd expect to find on an Italian menu. Whatever you do don't miss the New England Clam bake featured every Thursday evening at the Hungry Tiger restaurant in San Mateo. If you're a stickler for tradition, this classic New England clam bake is "your cup of tea." The repast includes clam chowder, steamed clams, a whole Maine lobster, chicken, corn-on-the-cob, and pitchers of beer. Bukemaster David May, who is the Hungry Tiger's chief, says to prepare yourselves for a meal you won't forget. Reservations a must.

BREWIN' 'N' STEWIN' — "Miss Spook," a featured entertainer at every party on Halloween eve, and her constant black cat companion are stirring up a bewitching batch of brew for the witches, goblins, ghosts and skeletons who will be haunting restaurants and clubs on the eve of October 31. It's a night for "trick or treat" cheer. So be on the look-out for these eerie friends.

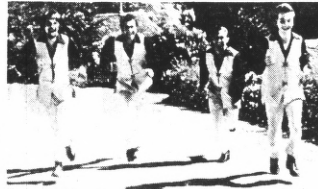

Reggie Dahl Returns To Finocchio Scene

Reggie Dahl, a dancer-stripper from Chicago, has returned to the Finocchio's revue after a six months tour of the Pacific. Reggie has studied all types of dancing and has been billed all over the world as a premiere "ballerina." This crowd-pleasing entertainer also sings well. The new Lehigh's Greenhouse restaurant and florist is one of San Francisco's most successful new restaurants in a decade. But Owner Murray Lehr is not one to rest on past accomplishments. He now has validated parking for dinner guests, a feature which won instant praise from theater-goers who flock in nightly to enjoy a pre-theater dinner or a late supper after the final curtain. If asked "Have you seen Ben Davidson play football for the Oakland Raiders?" you would probably say yes. And you couldn't have missed seeing the handsome 6'8" football great when he dined Friday night at Scotty Campbell's restaurant in Redwood City. The Shirt Tail in Palo Alto is one of the rare restaurants serving the classic Gazpacho "Andalous." The exquisite Spanish chilled soup has finely chopped cucumbers, bell peppers, onions, tomatoes, Jalapenos. It's served in iced tomato juice with a hint of garlic and tostados, and fresh lemon.

"Clean Deal" For S.S.F. Holiday Inn

Can you imagine a surprise champagne reception in honor of opening a new laundry facility? Well, that's exactly what happened last Thursday night when a few of Fred Rapp's close friends and several South San Francisco Holiday Inn employees planned a surprise celebration to toast the debut of the Inn's new laundry facilities. And what facilities they are! The latest in equipment and even plush wall-to-wall carpeting. Dinner at L'Auberge can be extremely reasonable. Their "Le Dinner du Jour" puts their finest classic French cuisine well within the means of budget-conscious or young couples. For example, the Broiled Demi Caponette, Chicken Sauté au Champagne are typical good-but-modestly priced items from the kitchen of chef de cuisine George Bollag. Of course, everything served is under the supervision of maitre d' Louis Fruttschi, whose corps of waiters, all European-trained, make dining an adventure. Eleven different varieties of casserole dishes with taste excellence are served at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant. Fresh seafood selections are broiled, grilled or served in cocktails and salads. Also assorted shellfish, served plain or Bordelaise. The sandwich variety includes all the favorites, plus specialties such as abalone and filet of sole. You'll also be impressed with the list of Italian dishes and pastas. For particular food served in an atmosphere of congeniality, Vince's restaurant is all that and more.

Piccinini Restaurant Opens in Palm Springs

November 1 is the scheduled opening date of Joe Piccinini and Nello Piccinini's "Oreste's of Palm Springs" restaurant in Palm Springs. The menu will feature the same outstanding Continental cuisine as the Jovanello's restaurant in San Francisco. Look for a third restaurant to open in San Diego in the near future. Needless to say, Joe De Dio, general manager of the Holiday Inn, Belmont, is glad to have Tashome back in the Ivory Coast Lounge. The band, which played here several months back, is drawing capacity crowds again. Whatever you do, don't forget the Holiday Inn's great Italian buffet feast which is available every Friday from 5:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. With the festive Holiday season rapidly approaching, it's good to know that the International Gourmet Deli (located in the Borel Shopping Center) caters all sorts of occasions — and the prices are reasonable. Their expert assistance can make your Holiday entertaining much easier.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Attention, Spooks Big Celebration

Frank Martinielli has quite an evening planned for Halloween eve at his Beach House in San Mateo. A gala Halloween party will include prizes for outstanding costumes, and live music by Power House from 9 p.m. Dinners will be served in the adjacent Tiki Garden, where a dollar discount on dinner is yours by clipping the Beach House ad in today's Bright Lights. The casual informality of the Villa Coffee House, with seating in comfortable booths and the long counter, makes dress a "come as you are" affair. You may see jeans at a booth next to white tie and ball gown. This is an after-show, after-dance or party mecca. Also situated in the Villa Hotel is the Villa Lounge, where crowds gather nightly to leisurely enjoy the music of the Charlie Blackwell Trio. The menu at the Iron Horse, on Marden Lane, is continually inspired. The fashionable dining room has a glaze of sophistication and is richly decorated. Owner Sam Marconi demands perfection in mien and training in his waiters. Whatever your entire choice, Chef Roger Bertola has a truly delicate touch with the sumptuous cuisine. The softly lit, cozy cocktail lounge offers a breather for an aperitif or something more bracing.

Touch of Italy At Bruno's Mission St.

Take an excellent Italian dinner, checkered table cloths, Italian cooks really putting on a show, fine wine, and plenty of native conversation and you've really got something going. That's par at Bruno's in the San Francisco Mission, where the Neapolitan touch takes over during both the luncheon and dinner hours. Don't be surprised if some Italian tenor warbles out a ditty or two on Friday nights, with Eddie Platte at the piano going right along with the vocals. Talk about a homey atmosphere. This definitely is it. Carol Chin and The Roots of Sand go into their final week at the Miyako Hotel. No cover or minimum during their three-times-a-week shows, Tuesday through Saturday. The Terry Candace Show with Rudy Perez opens next in the Garden Bar. At Tanforan Park's Steaks Unique, a special bonus of 1,000 Blue Chip Stamps will be given to customers who order the Giant Platter of Fried Chicken. Stamps will be given only on take-out orders. This $6.99 offer will remain valid through December 31. To order ahead, call 583-2280.

Black Angus Now Featuring Junction

Junction, a talented duo, offer their bag of song stylings in the lounge of Stuart Anderson's Black Angus restaurant in San Mateo. Dapper Norm Sutton, who oversees the action here, says the musical pair has performed throughout the Black Angus chain, drawing praise from critics in every city. The Royal Coach Motor Hotel in San Mateo offers 27 different banquet rooms from which to choose for special gatherings, with groups up to 1,000 being easily accommodated. Catering Manager Mary Lou Milo is one to call when planning a party. The menu is extensive. Although Chinese dishes were recently added to the Skylark's menu, Chef Ray Lim also specializes in charbroiled choice steaks. Something else you should try is the Surf and Turf. Special dinner prices will be in effect at Diamond Tavern on Halloween eve. Prices have been lowered on two of the most popular items — Barbecued Chicken and Barbecued Ribs. And not to overlook the "little ones" on the eve of goblins and witches. Diamond Tavern will offer special children's dinners for just 99 cents.

Food For Gourmets And Pounding Surf View

Standing just yards back from a picturesque beach in Pacifica is the time-honored Nick's family restaurant and lounge, which was begun years ago by Nick Gust's father, Stellos Karagianis (better known to his American friends as Charlie). Today, it continues to attract diners from all over the Bay Area with its breakfast, lunch and dinner menu variety, and a view of the beach and pounding surf. Located next door, and also overlooking the waters of the Pacific, is a two-story building housing The Moonraker, a restaurant that has been carefully designed with the gourmet diner in mind. The menu is continental and features such delicacies as Chicken Cacciatore, Milanesa and Roast Beef with Lamb Jampana. Downstairs, and offering an equally pleasant view is Captain Charles restaurant, where seafood specialties are epicurean delights. Named after Nick Gust's father, Captain Charles offers one of the warmest eating environments you will ever encounter. Park Avenue Tours — Full Fun Tours, include a drive-up package with a liberal bonus refund. Overnighters (one or two days) and the eight-hour Turn-around Greyhound Bus schedules which depart daily. This is a great way to enjoy a fun fling in the heart of all the Nevada action.

Capital Improvements Projects Approved

Pacifica city councilmen Monday approved three items, totaling $235,000, of their proposed $16-million capital improvements program.

The council set aside $100,000 for Sharp Park Beach parking facilities, $100,000 for a new corporation yard, and $35,000 for a microfilming program.

The action apparently met a deadline for the Revenue Sharing program.

Councilman Stan Farber, seeking approval of the three items, said the action "would give us 45 days more to decide on the other items."

He said he was concerned about the proposed $400,000 Linda Mar firehouse. The outcome of the Nov. 6 election, he said, would determine what kind of firehouse could be built for Linda Mar.

An order of a firehouse by the developer of Rockaway Highlands, is contingent upon the referendum on the 30-acre development.

In response to a statement by Nick Gust, chairman of the Capital Improvement Committee, that Fire Chief Cal Hinton had assured him that the Linda Mar firehouse was in no way dependent upon the proposed firehouse on Fessler Drive, Farber explained that if the voters approve rezoning, the city would gain $275,000 more for firehouse construction funds.

The council has considered building the firehouse and a new police station at the proposed civic center site on Fessler Drive.

Nine projects now have been authorized by the City Council for inclusion in the portion of the capital improvements program to be financed largely with Revenue Sharing funds.

Daly City Poll Taker

allow property owners to bargain on their own behalf without city hall assistance.

"I do not believe at this time we (the merchants) should go on record for the redevelopment agency until clear guidelines are established by the city — not a study group — as to the whole picture, until residential and commercial is spelled out should we make any statement. At that time only we can discuss and submit our views," a member wrote.

The results of the poll are on file in the Mission Merchants' office, according to Assoc. Pres. Vince Merlo.

Names of merchants involved in the poll were not made public.

There was one merchant who felt the redevelopment issue has been "mismanaged" from the start.

"Although I would accept redevelopment, I feel that the present setup has mismanaged the movement to date," the merchant wrote.

The other six Beach cleaner to be purchased for the 1974-75 fiscal year, $30,000; Calera Creek Park, $10,000; two fish ladders in the San Pedro Creek Park, $4,000; bicycle trails, $6,000; tree planting program for hillsides, open space and streets, $21,000 over the next three years; Frontierland Park, $75,000 next year and $75,000 the year afterward.

Heading a group of five other projects considered high priority, but placed in the "supplemental projects" category was the $400,000 Linda Mar firehouse. The others: Fairmont Park West, $29,000; San Pedro Creek, $75,000 this year and $75,000 the following year; small boat harbor study, $100,000; and Oceana indoor swimming pool, $350,000.

Meanwhile, Farber announced that he and Councilwoman Grace McCarthy would meet with representatives of the Laguna Salada School Board Nov. 14. He said park projects at five school sites would be among the topics.

Nothing was said at the meeting about the financing of the proposed civic center, which heads a list of several major projects which would require a bond issue or similar financing.

To inquiries by Sharp Park residents about the Sharp Park parking lots, Mayor Aubrey Lamley replied that no decision had been made as to where to place them — only that they would serve the fishing pier.

Discovery Site Hike Planned

The 20th anniversary of the discovery of San Francisco Bay will be celebrated Nov. 4 with two hikes to the Portola Discovery Site on Sweeney Ridge.

This announcement was made by Judge F. Jose de Laros, president of the Portola Expedition Foundation and Councilwoman Grace L. McCarthy, chairman of the Pacifica Portola Committee, who are co-sponsors. This has been an annual event since 1968.

Both hikes will start from the Crespi Elementary School on Fessler Avenue in Pacifica. The first group will assemble at the Crespi School auditorium at 12:30 p.m. They have been named "Camteones" (Champions).

A 15-minute pictorial summary, which tells a fascinating story about the discovery of San Francisco Bay, will precede the start of this hike which will be led by Judge de Laros.

The second group, dubbed the "Exploradores" (Explorers) will meet at the auditorium at 1:30 p.m. After their briefing, they will follow the path of Portola with Pacifica Mayor Aubrey Lamley as their guide.

The public is invited to join either group. Park in the Crespi School lot or nearby. The roundtrip hike is four miles. Approximately two miles should be allowed for this visit to the discovery site.

DEDICATION CEREMONIES were held Saturday for the new Westlake Community Center in Daly City. The gymnasium was named in honor of Francis Patrick Pacelli, long-time city councilman who retired from public office three years ago. The facility, housing the gym, meeting rooms, showers, and other recreation rooms, was constructed under a joint Daly City-Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association agreement on financing. Among local dignitaries attending the event were (L-R) Mayor Anthony Giammona, Francis Pacelli, Director of City Parks, Recreation and Maintenance Charles Vincent and Recreation Commission Chairman Tony Aiello. Big Carpet Roll Stolen

An $8,000 roll of carpeting, weighing some 600 to 700 pounds, was taken from the upper level of the new Terminal Rotunda A building under construction at the San Francisco International Airport over the weekend, the sheriff's office reported Oct. 29.

The theft was reported to Sheriff's Deputy Gene R. Masini by Frank P. Naughton, 36, a carpet layer for Conklin Bros. Co., of San Francisco yesterday morning.

Masini said a truck or trailer would have been needed to carry the roll away.

the pier, to loiter, or to have an open fire "not in a suitable container."

Violations could lead to a penalty as high as $200 fine or six months in jail.

An opening ceremony has been set for Nov. 10.

A fishing derby also will be held that day.

City Manager Dave Thompson said he would have the rules posted on the pier.

The new ordinance would make it unlawful to operate any vehicle, including a bicycle, on the pier; to dive or jump from the pier; to swim, wade, surf or skin dive within 100 feet of the pier; to climb on the railing, to cast a fishing line overhead, or to allow any lure or hook to pass inbound of the pier railing while casting.

In addition, it would be illegal to deposit trash on the pier, use more than one pole or drop line at a time, to possess a fishing spear, permit a boat to approach within 500 feet, to sell goods or services within 300 feet of the pier.

A South San Francisco man was arrested last week in his home and charged with kidnaping, assault with a deadly weapon, rape and possession of marijuana.

Booked at San Mateo County Jail was Duncan C. Rodgers, a 41-year-old salesman of 404 Larch Ave.

Police gave these details: Late last night a man offered two girls in San Francisco a ride to their home there, but instead took them to his home. There, according to police, he raped one girl and warned the other, while pointing a shotgun at her face, not to interfere. The one girl managed to sneak into another room and call a friend, who called police.

Capital Improvements Budget Presented to City Council

South San Francisco acting city manager Ed Alario Oct. 24 presented a $35,882,493 capital improvement budget to the City Council.

The proposed budget covers a five-year period, and envisages use of state and federal funds to finance a large part of it. In fact, Alario told the council, such a budget is required as a condition of receiving grants.

"This matter must be finalized by the Nov. 5 council meeting," he told them, "or the city will lose approximately $80,000 in federal grants."

One portion of it, however, an estimated $5,400,000 for a public safety complex, would require either a bond issue, lease purchase or similar financing, Alario said.

The sum already being acquired includes a 12-acre site bounded by Chestnut, Grand and Willow Avenues. It will include new police facilities, and a central fire station.

CERTAIN FEATURES of the complex would be designed for mutual utilization for both departments. Alario said, "including training and communication centers."

Alario said both police and fire facilities are completely inadequate and are adversely affecting the operation of both units.

With relocation of Fire Central to the new site, he added, the city could close both the Commercial Avenue and Buri Buri stations — both of which need extensive renovation. The project could be partially paid by sale of the two sites, he added.

Construction of a new public safety complex is of paramount importance," he declared, "and should receive top priority."

Also in the proposed budget would be a $65,000 item for renovation of the present police station, to serve as a city hall annex. The present City Hall would be remodeled for $15,000, a two-story addition to the city hall would be added for $100,000, and a sprinkler system would be added to city hall grounds for $30,000. The city council chambers would be enlarged by the annex.

The third major public facility project would be a new corporation yard, for $2,520,000.

ALARIO URGES acquisition of eight and one-half acres bounded by Spruce Avenue, Colma Creek and the possible extension of Magnolia Avenue, for the corporation yard, to accommodate streets, sewers, parks and equipment maintenance divisions. "The project would eliminate using valuable park land for non-recreational activities," he noted.

"This project should be envisioned with the utmost importance and one of highest priority," he noted. The biggest project would be for storm sewers and flood control, at a cost of $12,696,916. However, $6,737,416 of this represents money to be advanced to Colma Creek Flood Control District over three years.

Six bridges over Colma Creek are envisaged for replacement — Linden Avenue (already started), Spruce, Orange, Chestnut, Mission Road and South Spruce and Mayfair Bridge.

In addition, smaller flood-prone areas throughout South San Francisco are marked for projects.

The budget contains a $7,652,000 item for parks, a program mostly drawn up by a special committee which has already submitted its program, as a condition of open space grants.

THE PROGRAM is headed by a $4,750,000 community center building, $1,450,000 for Orange Avenue Park expansion and development, $600,000 for swimming pool development, and $918,000 for Alta Loma park acquisition and development.

Other projects include Buri Buri Park, Arroyo Park, Sign Hill Park, Appian Way Park, Westborough Park building, Brentwood Park and Hillside Park, all phased over five years.

The treatment plant is tabbed for $3,191,952, but this work is already under way under federal and state grants. Sanitary sewers are marked for $1,900,000. Major project here is replacement of old lines which are now subject to seepage from storm waters.

In addition, $3,594,500 is earmarked for street work. Major projects are Hillside Boulevard, Airport Boulevard, South Linden, Spruce Avenue, Harbor Avenue, Industrial Way and Railroad Avenue. An extension of Miller Avenue would link Sanchino Gardens with old South San Francisco. Widening of Chestnut would project for a link between Westborough and Hillside Drive.

CITY COUNCILMEN Wednesday night asked that work on Airport Boulevard be moved up in priority so that the entire street would be rebuilt this year. Phase four widening of El Camino Real would be moved back a year. This would be the final widening of the highway in South San Francisco.

A number would involve extension of Oyster Point Boulevard from Forbes to Oyster Point.

The $57,000 would be spent to reconstruct railroad crossings.

County Visitors Bureau Reports Recent Activities

Committee chairman of the San Mateo County Convention & Visitors Bureau met in Burlingame recently to report on their recent activities and to coordinate efforts aimed at carrying out the goals of the Bureau.

Chaired by Bureau President William Zappettini, Jr., the meeting began with a report of the Bureau's financial position by Treasurer Bud Everett, Daly City councilman.

James Calloway, Menlo Park councilman and chairman of the Tour and Travel Committee, reported that the Bureau's new three-day, two-night tour package has been compiled and will be presented to the entire Convention Bureau Board Nov. 15. Zappettini expressed the hope that this will be the first of many such tours to be offered by San Mateo County.

"Relations between the Convention Bureau and chambers of commerce in the county have never been better," declared Irv Amstrup, Burlingame councilman, and Joseph Greenbach, owner of the Villa Hotel, San Mateo, and chairman of the Housing and Hospitality Committee.

Present Zappettini reiterated the importance of coordination between the various Bureau committees and between the different cities in the county, and said "after hearing these reports today, I feel the Convention Bureau is well on its way to achieving its stated aims and goals and making San Mateo County a well-known meeting and convention center."

James O'Connor, Millbrae Public Relations Committee chairman, reported on the Bureau's continuing publicity plans, citing the recent "Sea Fair" at Marine World-Africa USA as an example of the new and different types of programs the Bureau will be undertaking, while continuing with our established public relations plan.

State Health Director Warns Against Botulism

The only sure way to kill botulism spores when canning foods at home is to use a pressure cooker and to follow directions exactly. California's health director warns.

"And if there is any doubt about the safety of home-canned food someone has given you, make sure it is boiled vigorously for at least 15 minutes before eaten or even tasted," said Dr. J. M. Stubblebine.

The health official said greater public interest in home gardens and canning because of higher food prices prompted him to remind the public of poisoning hazards from bacteria in the soil.

Dr. Stubblebine stressed the need for extreme caution in preparing low-acid foods for future use because, with botulism, "there is often no second chance." Nearly one quarter of the botulism cases in the United States since 1960 have been fatal, and most were traced to home-canned foods, especially vegetables.

Dr. Stubblebine said botulism is food poisoning from a toxin produced by a group of bacteria called Clostridium botulinum. In nature, it is found in two forms: a dormant spore and a living or vegetative cell. When growth conditions are unfavorable—too hot, too cold, no food, no moisture, etc.—the bacteria become dormant, which is the spore stage. Toxin is not produced in this stage.

The botulism spore germinates when conditions become favorable. One of the most important conditions for growth is absence of air or oxygen. As the spore grows, it produces a toxin so deadly that botulism-poisoned food can cause death when it is only tasted, not swallowed. Dr. Stubblebine said. The most important thing about botulism, he said, is that a person cannot tell, for sure, that a food is poisonous by smelling or tasting it.

The only way to kill botulism spores when canning foods," Dr. Stubblebine said, "is to use extremely high temperatures for a considerable length of time."

"The only practical way to do this without long, unreliable periods of boiling is with a pressure cooker. The cooker must be operated according to directions and must have a gauge that is accurate."

He said the boiling water bath method of canning is not safe for canning meats, poultry, fish or vegetables. However, since botulism spores do not ordinarily grow in acid surroundings, the boiling water bath may be used for canning high-acid foods such as tomatoes, fruit, rhubarb and pickles.

Even though botulism usually will not grow in high-acid foods, there have been occasional cases of poisoning from home canned high-acid foods. Dr. Stubblebine said this occurred because the food began to spoil, mold used up the acid in the food and the botulism spores germinated, producing toxin. If food is abnormal in odor or appearance, throw it away, he said.

Food Tables

In 1972 U.S. consumers ate an average, 116 lbs. of beef; 18 lbs. of ice cream; 88 lbs. of pork; 13 lbs. of cheese; 34 lbs. of lamb and mutton; 22 lbs. of veal; 11.4 lbs. of fish; 43 lbs. of chicken; 9 lbs. of turkey; 53 lbs. of table and cooking fats; 150 lbs. of fruits; 280 lbs. of potatoes and vegetables; 127 lbs. of flour meal and cereals; 6 lbs. of beans and 6 lbs. of nuts. All of this cost an average of $480 per person or about $2,400 for a typical household of five people according to facts compiled by Robert Coppersmith, extension economist, New Mexico State University.

Broccoli continues to be one of the most popular frozen vegetables. And no wonder, for broccoli is colorful and full of flavor and vitamins A and C.

There are also several styles to choose from — whole spears or stalks, short cuts or florets (the head stalks), broccoli cuts or florets, and chopped broccoli (the most economical style).

When buying frozen broccoli, look for the U.S. Department of Agriculture grade shield on the package. This means that the broccoli has been inspected for quality under USDA continuous inspection.

Top-grade broccoli — U.S. Grade A or Fancy — has a bright green color, some leaves removed, to present an attractive, tasty product for the consumer to buy and prepare.

Broccoli, a colorful complement to any meal in buffet table, can be prepared in a number of ways. Try topping frozen broccoli spears with a tart hollandaise sauce or accent a festive soufflé with chopped broccoli.

BROCCOLI CON

but it is still of good quality and costs a little less than Grade A. Both Grade A and Grade B frozen broccoli are well-trimmed, with the large leaves removed, to present an attractive, tasty product for the consumer to buy and prepare.

BROCCOLI CON
2 10-oz. packages frozen broccoli spears

2 tablespoons olive oil or butter
1 clove garlic, split
1/2 cup diced prosciutto or boiled ham
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon ground black pepper

Cook broccoli according to package directions; drain, saving the liquid. Heat oil or butter and garlic in a 9-inch skillet. Add broccoli and sauté 2 minutes. Add a little of the cooking liquid if the pan gets too dry. Add ham and cook slowly until hot. Serve at once sprinkled with Parmesan cheese and black pepper. Makes 6 servings.

Food for Life Head Start In Feeding Infants

By GEORGE M. BRIGGS, Ph.D., Nutritionist

An infant who gets good food in the first few months is one who has a head start in life. Proper nutrition in these early months is necessary for growth, health and development of all organs and tissues of the body, including the brain.

Breast milk is of course the most nearly perfect food for the baby. There are many good substitutes for breast milk but the most extremely rate for a mother not to have enough milk to feed the baby herself. Your doctor and the La Leche League, listed in the phone directory of nearly every large city, can supply you with accurate information about breast feeding.

It isn't necessary to introduce the baby to solid food before the age of four to six months. Around this time the baby himself will begin to make it clear that he is ready for solid foods. For example, he will show interest in food when the rest of the family eats, and he will make chewing motions with his mouth.

There is really no reason to start solid food before the age of three or four months. Besides, too often the solids given are not particularly important. Such foods as most commercially prepared baby desserts will just fill the infant's stomach and make him less hungry for his next feeding.

The United States is one of the few countries where some mothers try to feed their babies solids as early as the first weeks of life, against all the baby's natural reflexes. In fact, the feedings of high-calorie solids may actually be detrimental. The infant, who can't say "stop" when he gets enough calories, begins to accumulate extra baby fat. This sets an unfortunate pattern toward later obesity.

So let your new baby enjoy his milk feedings, either with your milk or with a good substitute recommended by your pediatrician. Don't be in a rush to start with all those baby foods; there is plenty of time later.

It Was School As Usual in Pacifica

It will be school as usual Monday — almost — at Pacifica's San Andreas School.

Although the school was vandalized and set afire Friday night, officials said the damage was confined to a small portion of the principal's office.

According to fire department officials, damage was estimated at $15,000 to contents, and $5,000 to the building.

Supt. Jim Brien today said it is fortunate the school is built with fire retardant material.

He said it would probably be several months before the office could be put back into operation.

Officials report that the night custodian had left the school at 10 p.m. Inverness Drive, at 10 p.m. Friday.

Shortly after that, vandals broke in through a window. Officials said the plug of an electric clock was pulled, showing the time as 10:20 p.m.

While inside, the vandals wreaked havoc generally, tipping over shelves, desks, and spilling inks and other types of office supplies about the room.

It appears, also, that they set a fire in a closet, and closed the door, officials said. But because of the fire retardant construction, the blaze smoldered, apparently the entire night, as the fire was not discovered until Saturday at 8:30 a.m.

Firemen reported that the fire was contained to an area of about 20 by 30 feet, but did tremendous heat damage, melting telephones and tape recorders and thoroughly burning through the structural timbers.

Police and firemen are investigating.

Daly City Scouts Awarded

Daly City Scout Troop 182 honored several scouts at an Eagle Court of Honor Oct. 18.

Those attaining their Eagle rank were Cary Racine and Paul Dale. Jeff Spencer and Jim Craig.

Eagle Scout Robin Greene received his Bronze Palm. Troop 182 now has nine Eagle Scouts.

Other Scouts honored at the Court of Honor were Cornell Kwok who received his Life Scout Award and Neil Shapiro who was appointed Senior Patrol Leader.

Robert Herz, ex-Committee Chairman, was presented with a desk set and plaque for his service to the Troop for the past five years.

He has been appointed Unit Commissioner for the Troop.

Millbrae planning commissioners meet tonight to review the final environmental impact report on a 14-story hotel-office building complex at Millbrae Avenue and Old Bayshore.

Though some opposition to the proposal has been voiced by pilots and aviation groups, due to proximity to the airport's runways, the towers have reportedly been given a "no hazard" rating by the Federal Aviation Administration. Approval by the city is expected.

Commissioners will also review an appeal for a Christmas tree sales lot at 140 El Camino Real.

100,000 Trees Needed to Fly Roundtrip to N.Y.

By Eva Newman
"One commercial jet aircraft, traveling roundtrip between New York and Los Angeles, utilizes 10,000 gallons of fuel creating CO2 pollution that takes the combined efforts of more than 100,000 trees, photosynthesizing one day, to overcome."

Class Officers

Elected at Terra Nova

Elections for student body officers were held at Terra Nova High School Oct. 18.

Results were as follows:
Seniors: President, Gene Hong; vice president, Tim Kennedy; secretary, Bonnie Cook; and treasurer, Donna Pearson.

Juniors: President, Becky Smith; vice president, Carl Decker; secretary, Pam Murawski; and treasurer, Ron Morales.

Sophomores: President, Mike Schrempf; vice president, Chuck Cabral; secretary, Cindy Williamson; and treasurer, Armando Morales.

Freshmen: President, Darlene Gonzales; vice president, Diane Main; secretary, Renee Andre; and treasurer, Terry Lopez.

That statement appeared in Dialogue, the official publication for individuals who have qualified as a California Certified Nurseryman in an article on the role trees play in contributing to a quality environment.

"Citing the American Horticultural Society and the Environmental and Agricultural Education Department of the Los Angeles Unified School District, the feature article dealt with the oxygen-carbon dioxide exchange between plants and animals."

There is a natural relationship between these two groups that has been in harmony until only recently when man's multitudinous activities have begun to upset this equilibrium. The editorial stated, comparative calculations indicate to what extent each average North American is responsible for upsetting the CO2 ratio in our breathable atmosphere. It is expressed in the daily photosynthesis efforts of actively growing trees.

One man's breathing = 1 tree
Auto and truck driving (five gallons a day) = 20 trees
Oil for heating home = 20 trees
Household electricity = 5 trees

Garbage = 2 trees
Industrial goods (fossil fuel) = 30 trees

It is estimated that 78 trees per person, per day, are necessary just to maintain the CO2 ratio in atmospheric balance. The above estimates do not consider the effects of mass public transportation, forest fires, and countless other natural contributors to the atmosphere's CO2. A commercial jet plane, on a roundtrip New York-Los Angeles flight, utilizes 10,000 gallons of fuel. It takes the combined photosynthetic efforts of over 100,000 trees, one day, to overcome the CO2 pollution created.

Green Plants

Ronald E. Marciel, Hayward, who is chairman of the Nurserymen's Certification Board, under the auspices of the California Association of Nurserymen, commented that "It is green plants, through the remarkable process of photosynthesis, that return life-giving oxygen to the atmosphere. Though the relationship between animal and plant life is a symbolic one, "It is so basic that it is difficult to understand how anybody could abuse the green around us," Marciel felt, adding that "today's unprecedented interest in planting living greenery throughout the country, is a reflection of man's awareness of the role plants play in his life."

Now, after this week's rain, is a good time for every home owner to plant a tree, two to better cleanse the air around that home. This doesn't mean to plant just any tree, as some trees have very disturbing and expensive habits of growth, such as being so shallow-rooted that they blow over, or have invasive roots that clog sewers. Others may grow so tall or massive that they completely over-shadow the house. Always try to find an adult tree, one that is at least 25 years old that you like then buy a five, possibly ten-year-old youngster of that same variety.

When we moved to our present garden we felt we wanted an evergreen tree in the front garden to balance the two deciduous trees, and we chose Pinus sylvestris, widely known as the Scotch Pine. This pine is said to have a greater geographical distribution than any other tree in the world, and it is a great favorite for growing. We had seen some quite old trees of this pine when we were in Europe and found them most attractive for their flat top growth. We also knew that when the tree began to get too big for our house we could prune it to a large bonsai. The young trees are very good looking and symmetrical. We let our tree grow naturally for about 10 years then nipped out the top and began its training by pinching out the new growth buds or clipping them back just a few inches. By doing this we keep the tree the size we want it. Another pine that can be treated this same way is Pampus thunbergii, the Japanese black pine, so widely used in bonsai growing.

Small Pine

Its space is limited and you feel you must have a pine tree we strongly recommend the mugo pine, Pinus mugo. We planted three of these dwarf pines in our back garden but a gopher got away with one before we could catch him. This pine is a many stemmed, low growing tree that grows to a mature specimen of this tree as it is thin and unattractive when young. It, too, is a very popular tree in Peninsula gardens not only for its green beauty but for its well behaved growth habit.

Two blue spruces are on our favorite evergreen tree list. The Colorado Blue spruce (Picea pungens) we had in our former garden. This spruce is usually grown from seed and a small proportion of the seedlings develop the bright blue color. The big majority are greenish although some do have a slight bluish cast. This bluish

In our former garden we had a Mt. Atlas cedar. Cedrus atlantica glauca, that was exceedingly beautiful. This tree grew to about 20 feet then just stayed that height. The branch structure is quite open and the needles are a sparkling light blue. It is quite necessary to see a mature specimen of this tree as it is thin and unattractive when young. It, too, is a very popular tree in Peninsula gardens not only for its green beauty but for its well behaved growth habit.

Two blue spruces are on our favorite evergreen tree list. The Colorado Blue spruce (Picea pungens) we had in our former garden. This spruce is usually grown from seed and a small proportion of the seedlings develop the bright blue color. The big majority are greenish although some do have a slight bluish cast. This bluish color is a powdery substance, called shou, on the needles. While our tree stayed quite blue all year long, it had a bit of the color during our rainy season. The second spruce is the Koster blue spruce, a selected variety, that is quite necessary to see a mature specimen of this tree as it is thin and unattractive when young. It, too, is a very popular tree in Peninsula gardens not only for its green beauty but for its well behaved growth habit. It does need a cool place in the garden as it is primarily a cold weather tree. The large leaf evergreen trees should not be forgotten, neither should the deciduous trees that provide us with beautiful fall color nor the flowering trees that are such a joy in spring and the fruit tree. All of these trees do an excellent job of clearing the air of CO2 when enough of them are planted.

Bridal Shower Held at the Castaway

The Castaways in San Mateo was the scene of a Bridal Shower for D. Lohr Hendrickson, South San Francisco, Oct. 20.

The hostesses were Mesdames Kate Gutke, Milbrae and Joyce and Karen Gutke and Miriam Holmes of Sacramento.

The favors for the luncheon were personalized handmade ceramics designed by Mrs. Gutke. A prospective mother-in-law of Miss Hendrickson.

The wedding will take place at Swedenborgian Church in November. The groom, R. Scott Gutke, formerly resided in Daly City.

Woodside Cycle-Auto Collision Injures 3

Three Redwood City residents were injured Sunday after a 2 p.m. auto collision in Woodside when a motorcycle and a car collided on a curve on Woodside Road one-fourth mile west of La Honda Road.

Sherrill's Deputy Harvey Rutenberg reported that a motorcycle operated by Leon T. Goff, 30, of 449 Hurlingham Ave., rounded a curve eastbound and went into a skid, sliding into and partially trailing under an oncoming car driven by Richard E. Brown, 50, of 54 Clinton St. Goff suffered two broken legs, and his passenger, Mary Margaret Bost, 25, of 610 Hurlingham Ave., suffered a severe back injury. Both were admitted to Sequoia Hospital.

Human's wife, Louise, 36, was treated at the hospital for facial injuries sustained when her head hit the windshield of the car.

Family of 11 Escapes From Burning Home

A Redwood City family of 11 escaped to safety early Sunday when fire swept through the home they had moved into only the day before.

Menlo Park Fire Department

Boy Shot In Mateo Apartment

A 17-year-old San Mateo youth was shot in the chest in his El Camino Real apartment Sunday afternoon.

Police took his 19-year-old brother into custody, and are investigating.

In critical condition, but improved after surgery at Mills Memorial Hospital's intensive care unit is Tommy Abeyta, hospital attaches reported.

The shooting took place at 2 p.m. in an apartment house in the 200 block of South El Camino Real.

Witnesses indicated it was possibly accidental. It was learned in addition to the brothers, two girls, one a juvenile, were present at the time.

Police said that the brother, Roderick Tyrone Abeyta, 19, had been in the apartment during the day, and that the victim arrived about 10 minutes before the shooting.

Police still are looking into just what happened and held the older brother overnight for questioning. No charge had been filed this morning, police report. A small caliber automatic pistol was found.

In charge of the investigation is Det. Sgt. Gordon A. Sheehan.

Redwood City Policeman John Pera described Marberry's car as about seven feet over the truck while on patrol, said Pera.

Pera said Marberry's car swerved onto the soft shoulder about 40 feet before he ran into the parked truck.

An autopsy was scheduled for Monday.

Julia Child To Appear In March

For the first time in nine years, Julia Child will give cooking demonstrations in the Bay Area March 25, 26, 28 and 29 for the Women's Board of the Pacific Medical Center, San Francisco.

The renowned chef will give demonstrations both in the afternoon and evening at the Kabuki Theatre, which is located at the Japanese Cultural Center in San Francisco.

"Bon Appetit San Francisco with Julia Child" has been planned and organized by the Women's Board which is under the direction of Mrs. Spencer Grant. The event is being sponsored by AMFAC and its San Francisco store, Liberty House at City of Paris.

Tickets are available for individual performances or for the series of four lessons. All proceeds will benefit Presbyterian Hospital.

Reservations are now being accepted by the Women's Board which may be contacted through Presbyterian Hospital, P.O. Box 7969, San Francisco 94120.

Marberry's car, which has recently returned from her home in France, is known as the Public Broadcasting System's "French Chef."

A total of 16 firemen responded to the fire. Several of them suffered minor injuries in fighting the blaze.

Cafe Caper

The report from Chin's Restaurant in Redwood City last night was clear. Two persons entered the diner carrying a machine gun.

Police Officers George Yaco, Guy Jackson and Dennis Dunne responded, and found none — with a toy machine gun.

They explained: "We're just returning from a Halloween Party."

Mateo Council

The San Mateo City Council will hold another meeting Tuesday, says that the session in regard to personnel tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall conference room. Mayor Floyd E. Welch announced yesterday.

The session will involve contract labor relations and union representation of the city's existing county workers in the parks and public works department.

Writing these laws from the 11th floor of the inefficient, out-of-date State Constitution at this time may be risky if future administrative programs are unceremoniously rejected, noting that repayment on state-mandated programs would be only partially covered through reimbursement.

The Board of Supervisors requested the report from Tarshes before taking a stand on Prop. 13.

Prop. 13 Would Hasten Tax Rate Climb: Aide

It is "certain" that San Mateo County will reach its property tax rate ceiling sooner if Prop. 13, the Ronald Reagan's tax ceiling initiative, is passed Nov. 6, than it would under existing state law, County Manager M.D. Tarshes says in a report to the County Board of Supervisors.

The report, requested by the board and presented Tuesday, says that state-mandated programs "will consume" the 12-cent tax rate drop the county approved this year.

The victim told police someone had carried off $100 worth of frozen food after entering her garage. Police said entry was not forced.

Loots Freezer

Thirty packages of frozen beef and chicken were reported stolen from a home in a Beringme residence last weekend.

'The Winds of War' To Be Reviewed

The Winds of War, a Pulitzer Prize-winning novel by Herman Wouk, who presently lives in Washington, D.C., had his dramatic years (1939-41) when first novel, "Angels and Demons," was published in 1947. Since then, he has published nine additional works of fiction, including "The Winds of War," which was published in 1969. The novel, which is being reviewed by James Wyatt, a dean of students, Skyline College, for The Friends of the Daly City Library, Nov. 8, at 8 p.m., in the Coral Room of the Westlake Branch Library, 275 Southgate Ave.

Mrs. H. C. Kincaid, book review chairman, advises the evening review is being offered in addition to the Friends' daytime series of six reviews, so that business and professional men and women in the community may attend.

Dean Wyatt has been a Daly City resident for the past 20 years, and he and Mrs. Wyatt have been cooperative in community affairs.

Daly City Gun Victim Dies

Funeral services were held for Edward Louis Boucher of Daly City, who was shot in a Daly City residence Sept. 1, and who died Wednesday.

According to Daly City police, Boucher, 59, of 65 Poncetta St. was visiting in the home of Patricia Keane on Montrose Street when he heard a prowler in the bathroom. He fought with the man and was shot in the abdomen with a .45-caliber bullet.

Boucher had been hospitalized since then. After surgery and treatment at a Mar's Help Hospital he was transferred to Presbyterian Hospital in San Francisco where he died.

Police are still seeking the gunman. They say they have some leads.

Boucher was a printer and owned the Black and White Press. He had served in the United States Army. A native of British Columbia, he had been a long-time resident of South San Francisco, and a resident of California for 30 years.

Survivors include a son, Richard, who is stationed in Greece with the U.S. Navy, and a daughter, Lorraine Roberts of Fairfax, four brothers, and two sisters.

Funeral services were held Monday at 9:45 a.m. at Garden Chapel in South San Francisco. Interment followed at Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.
